ALBANY, CALIFORNIA 150 Wednesday, July 26, 1967 NUMBER 46

Forry Explains 1967-68 School Budget, Tax Figure

By SUPT. KENNETH FORRY
The General Fund Budget for the school year 1967-68 was adopted for publication at the regular meeting of the Board of Education held on July 18. The budget in the amount of $2,116,818 and represents an increase of $277,818 over 1966-67. (The budget is published today. Ed.)
In considering the new budget, members of the Board called attention to problems in financing school district costs when State and Local income is not known before the dates required for budget adoption.
For example, income from local sources, which accounts for about 60 per cent of the funds needed to finance Albany School operation results from applying a tax rate to the assessed value of the property of the district. The 1967-68 budget requires a .53¢ district rate, which includes the 75¢ authorized by the voters in November of 1966 and 11¢ to finance increases in Social Security, Retirement and Health Insurance cost, together with the 35¢ tax required under the City Charter for school purposes.
It is anticipated that there will be a 6 per cent to 8 per cent increase in the 1967-68 assessed valuation over the 1966-67 level; however, official word has not been received by the Board but should be available by August 1, at which time the Public Hearing will be held on the budget to be adopted. What effect any new assessed valuation will have on State Apportionment or State Aid will not be known until the current Legislature and the Governor resolve differences in three proposals that are under consideration.
Members of the Board of Education discussed current and future State public school support programs and the possible effect of any increase in local property assessment.
During 1966-67 the Albany Schools received from the State School Fund approximately $167 for each elementary school child and $218 for each high school student. This amount was determined by a formula related to the amount of local taxable property for each student in average daily attendance. Thus, if as a result of an increase in local property assessment which would result in more taxable property per student, the State support formula would result in less State money for each pupil in the Albany Schools. The extent of reduction cannot be forecast until local assessment rolls are made known to the State Department of Education and a new State support formula is approved by the Legislature and signed by the Governor. The amount could be $15 to $20 less per pupil.
Audits of school accounts are made each fall by a Certified Public Accountant for the prior year income and expenditures. The audit for 1965-66 showed that the per pupil cost for education of pupils in Albany was $547.18 while the average cost for unified school districts in the county, exclusive of Emery, was $551.25. The difference between State School support received by Albany and the cost of educating children is made up by the application of the tax rate to the assessed valuation.

6. MAY ASK

—How financed
—For other facts to determine fair market value.
7. CAN raise the assessment (Ed.: and is obligated to do so if not properly assessed within certain limits).

AB 504 Passes In Assembly

For the second time in four years, legislation designed to relieve state-imposed districts such as Albany has passed the Assembly.
Supt. Kenneth M. Forry was informed Thursday afternoon that AB 504, coauthored by Assemblymen John J. Miller and March Fong, passed the Assembly and was tentatively set for hearing July 24 before the Senate Education committee.
In 1963, a similar bill sponsored by Assemblyman Byron Rumford passed the Assembly and was referred to interim study on the Senate side.
A ray of hope this year is that Senator Lewis F. Sherman's SB 170, a companion bill to AB 504, passed the Senate Education committee. It eventually bogged down in the Senate Finance committee.

It had earlier passed the Senate.

Thank you all.

Albany City Council Clears Communications, Resolutions at Session

Eight communications and six resolutions were dispensed with during a brief forty-five minute session of the Albany City Council at the regular Monday meeting.
The "bugging" of the City jail that rocked the city a week ago resulting in the request for finding from City Attorney Larry D. Sayler was not on the agenda and was not resolved.
Referring to the policing action, Darlo Meniketti spoke from the floor of the council chambers under the Good of the City. He said: "Let us not make a mockery of men who fought for our freedoms, I believe heart and soul in the sanctity of privacy. I say we must defend freedom of privacy from invasion at all costs." Council did not comment on his statement aside from thanking him.
Also, under the Good of the City, the dog problem arose again. Meniketti told the Council that he had been policing three front yards, his and two belonging to elderly citizens. Sometimes, he added, he included an area across the street. He suggested Albany adopt some kind of control law—or consider it.
Councilman Lewis Howell said that—in the event of a leash law—sometimes it was the fellow on the other end of the leash who was the problem. Acting Mayor Joseph Carlevaro said he wasn't sure how to take Howell's statement. Council, however, is going to study the canine discourtesy.
Communications to the city included: Albany Library Board request, for the approval of the 67-68 contract with the Alameda County for library service. Action was held up until contract is received.
Resolution No. 121667, Alameda County Bd. of Supervisors with acceptance. Filed.
A. T. Wulffraat, Albany Association of Insurance Agents recommending a package policy. Held over one week for a work session.
Fact Sheet from Herbert Hoover, Jr., chairman, California Freeway Support Committee, showing progress through well-planned, pay-as-you-go freeway construction. Filed.
Four communications from Administrative Officer James Turner on proposed amendment to maintenance agreement on the state highways in Albany; temporary closing of Hillside Ave. between Cerrito and Jackson streets; modification of curb markings at Santa Fe and Marin; and 67-68 gas tax funds. Resolutions were ordered to be drawn up.
Resolutions: Appointment of Mrs. Joanne Nenneman to Albany Library Board; commendation of Albany High School Pomona girls; appointment of Judith Cabral to the Beautification Committee; Authorization for the fire department to hire five part time employees to assist in the weed burning program; modification of traffic control signals along San Pablo Ave.; changing the name of the Beautification Committee to Beautification Improvement Committee. All approved.

Enoksen-Brownell Rites

Mr. and Mrs. G. Robert Brownell
(Sue Ellen Enoksen)

—Larimer Photo

Sue Ellen Enoksen, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Enok A. Enoksen, became the bride of George Robert (Bob) Brownell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brownell of 1002 Peralta Ave., Albany, at St. Ambrose Catholic church Sunday, July 9.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Richard A. Helmer, Sue wore a white lace semi-cage dress with full train falling from the back neckline with single strand crystal necklace which had been worn by her mother and sister at their wedding. Her elbow-length veil fell from a headpiece of pearl-studded petals and she carried a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Her five attendants wore blue crepe formals with back panels falling from a bow of the same material and empire bodices embroidered in white. They carried colonial nosegays of variegated blue carnations and wore brief blue veils and petal headpieces.

Mrs. Jack Eims was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Debra Pina, cousin of the bride, and Pam Hobbs, Sherry Runnion and Cheri Jensen.

The bridegroom's cousin, Dennis Dowling, was best man. Ushers included Richard March, Paul Enoksen, became the bride of George Robert (Bob) Brownell, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brownell of 1002 Peralta Ave., Albany, at St. Ambrose Catholic church Sunday, July 9.

Two nieces of the bridegroom, Debra Roberts and Kelly Brown, were flower girls, wearing blue formals with an overlay of daisy lace, blue veils and petal headpieces and carrying miniature colonial bouquets.

Ringbearer was Jack Burns.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Helmer, wore a cage dress of beige ribbon lace with monk sleeves, turquoise hat, beige accessories and corsage of white orchids. The mother of the bridegroom wore a gown of pink crepe with sleeves of ribbon lace, pink accessories and white orchid corsage.

A reception at the Helmet club in Berkeley was arranged by Mrs. Edward Dowling, aunt of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Joseph Pina, aunt of the bride. Manny's Combo played for dancing. The couple left for a wedding trip to Carmel and Los Angeles. They will live on Evelyn Avenue in Albany.

The new Mrs. Brownell is a 1965 graduate of Albany High

Arthritis Group Leaves Crusade

The Arthritis Foundation, Northern California chapter, will withdraw from participation in the United Bay Area Crusade effective Jan. 1, it was announced today by James W. Griffith, chapter president. The action was determined at the June meeting of the chapter's board of directors.

"The chapter," said Griffith, "after considerable review of its responsibilities to the community, determined that the allocation to The Arthritis Foundation by the United Bay Area Crusade was not adequate to properly conduct the Northern California chapter's programs in the five-country area."

school. She attended Contra Costa college and Armstrong Business college. Her husband, a 1964 Albany High school graduate, attended Contra Costa college and is employed by Safeway Drug Center in Berkeley.

Among special guests at the wedding was the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Jennie Dowling.

"During the past year the chapter has had the honor of being associated with the United Bay Area Crusade and its predecessor, the United Bay Area Crusade, in a joint program of fund raising within the area of San Francisco, Marin, San Mateo, Contra Costa, However, recent increase in Northern California chapter activities, which demands additional support."

"In view of the consideration of the Northern California chapter's future and association with the future of the chapter, it was determined that the chapter will be appropriate for our fund raising efforts."

Griffith added that interested in supporting research, educational programs of The Arthritis Foundation will have the opportunity to do so next spring. Northern California will conduct its first fund-

SPECIAL PROGRAMS FOR VIETNAM VETERANS
The Veterans Administration reported today on two special programs available to service- men in Vietnam and to hospital- ized servicemen in the United States.
William J. Driver, Administra- tor of Veterans Affairs, said, "We expect thousands of young men who served in Vietnam to be in school or college this fall because of this program."
VA Administrator Driver states that many young Vietnam serv- icemen are discharged imme- diately when they reach the United States, rather than at a centralized separation center. A new plan of counseling provides full benefits that are available to them as veterans.
To help carry out President Johnson's wish to help fighting men make a speedy adjustment to civilian life, Driver has sent VA representatives to Vietnam to assist men ready for discharge.
"I am glad to report," he said, "that American servicemen re- sponded enthusiastically and I have made this program a regu- lar part of VA operations."
The first two-man VA team sent to Vietnam and the five

PACIFIC TELEPHONE HAS 20-POINT PROGRAM IT HOPES TO IMPLEMENT
Pacific Telephone has outlined a 20-point program of service im- provements the firm said it would like to provide for California telephone users if it is allowed to realize improved earnings.
The list, ranging from replace- ment of older dial equipment to custom calling service, was pre- sented to the California Public Utilities Commission by Richard C. Frey, Pacific Telephone vice president with company-wide re- sponsibilities for engineering and construction.
"The service Pacific Telephone provides today is good," Frey told the commission during pub- lic hearings in San Francisco. "But we know it could and should be better."
With its current level of poor earnings, Frey testified, the com- pany has been able to make some service improvements only on a limited scale and some not at all.
The 20 items Frey said the company is anxious to provide are:
Replacement of older dial equipment, more central offices and outside plant facilities, addi- tional base rate areas and special rate areas, improved rural serv- ice, expansion of extended area services, optional residential tele- phone service, more individual line service, introduction of com- parable optional calling plans for business customers, expanded business services, improved coin telephone service, custom calling services, touch-tone calling, ex- panded mobile telephone service, individual signaling units, ex- panded weather information serv- ice, DDD service improvement and expansion, transmission and noise improvement, expanded network management and restora- tion systems, and power plant reserve program.

Frey's testimony is in support for the company's application be- fore the commission for general rate increases. The company said the increases are necessary be- cause of steadily declining earn- ings.
"In our continuing effort to provide service," Frey said in his direct testimony, "we want to in-

Sterling And Weddings Go Together

Few things bring more pleasure to the bride-to-be than receiving wedding presents to grace her new home—and the good wishes that go with these presents.

Among her most treasured gifts are those in sterling silver. Be- sides their intrinsic worth, table accessories in sterling have an aura of permanence and a senti- mental value.

Traditionally, all or part of the bride's set of sterling flatware is given by her parents. But fre- quently, friends and relatives augment the set with serving pieces or additional place pieces such as steak knives and extra teaspoons.

As gifts arrive, the bride—with her mother's help—should keep a numbered name listing, label- ling each gift with a correspond- ing number. Then she will have a record of who gave what, so she can acknowledge each gift with a gracious thank-you note.

Here's help for women who are in the dark about fuses, switches and lights.

The easiest way to deal with an electrical failure is to prepare for it. Keep a flashlight and fresh fuses handy. Know where your main switch and branch circuit panel ("fuse box") are. Then, if your lights go out, you're ready to do something about it.

Is a fuse blown?

If the lights fail in one or two rooms only, a branch circuit fuse has blown or a circuit breaker has opened. If service fails in a large part of the house, the trouble is probably due to a "main" fuse blowing out or an open circuit breaker. If the neighbors' lights are out, too, call us.

Remove cause. Check fuse box.

First, disconnect frayed electric cords and multiple appliances on same outlet. Then examine the branch circuit panel and replace any fuse with a smoked-up window or melted metal strip inside.
Always replace a fuse with one the same size (15 amp, 20 amp, etc.)

If the branch circuit panel has circuit breakers ("on" and "off" switches), restore service by following the instructions on the switch or panel. Many homes today have both fuses and circuit breakers.

Check the main switch.

If your lights are still off, check your main switch. If it's the fuse or cartridge type, the switch should be turned off before replacing one. If your lights still don't work, call us. Or—if you have any doubts about the problem or the solution, give us a call.

Helpful tips.

If your electricity is off for any period, don't open your refrigerator or freezer. Frozen foods stay frozen longer if the freezer door is kept closed. If food starts to thaw, add dry ice. And don't forget:

When electric service is restored, reset your electric clocks.

PG&E is ready to help.

Repeated fuse problems probably mean inadequate wiring or faulty equipment, and you should consult an electrical contractor. If you can't restore power for any reason, call us and we'll send a serviceman.

Sally Klemm, Albany High student, is spending the summer in Istanbul Turkey on the American Field Service Program. With AFS'ers from all parts of the United States she sailed from New York to Rotterdam where the ship was met by a group of Dutch AFS'ers out in the early morning with large banners to welcome them. A short tour of Holland's countryside and then by plane to Istanbul.

She writes, "When we got out of the plane I finally realized fully that I wasn't just visiting another part of the U.S. Even the air smelled different. My two Turkish families are marvelous people. They are close family friends, the Ozoguz and Kelesoglu, and Beyhan the 21 year old Ozoguz daughter drove the Kelesoglu family to meet me. We got in the car and snap we went from Europe to Asia. The Bosphorus is beautiful and from the European side I could look across and see the rising towers of the mosques on the Asian side. My Turkish home is very nice. It seems the houses in Istanbul are, except for the mansions, either very old wooden houses or fairly new apartment buildings. Families spend a lot of time on the terrace and where I am it is surrounded by flowers.

"My family makes beautiful attempts at the English language. My two sisters speak very well and my mother and father always try. The girls took me to the indoor bazaar and it was so fantastic I couldn't possibly describe it to you. Sellers crying their wares, Turkish rugs, hookahs, leather suede and more gold jewelry than I have ever seen in my life. In the evening we all took a walk down the main avenue and stopped for ice cream before coming home. Everyone strolls down the avenue in the evenings. I like it."

In another letter: "It's exactly a week ago I met my Turkish family and since that time I've done and seen so much it hardly seems possible. For instance yesterday Beyhan and Yesim took me to two museums where I saw four centuries in one afternoon. For those of you who saw "Topkapli" it is actually for real. Dishes and plates made of gold and jade, diamonds and emeralds as big as your hand. The garments of the Sultan were absolutely beautiful all hand made with fantastic embroidery. The other place we visited was the Dolmabahce Palace which is so ornate it makes the Hearst Castle look like our house in comparison. The interesting thing about it was, I thought, the 300 yard corridor separating the harem from the rest of the Palace.

"At breakfast this morning Ulkür my Turkish mother asked me to compare U.S. and Turkish meals so I will here too. For breakfast we have bread, olives, tomatoes, cheese and tea. By the way bread is eaten at every meal but breakfast is the only time it's served with butter and jam. Lunch is usually a three course meal with stuffed vegetables, meat, soy beans, gerek an unsweetened pastry and always delicious fruit for dessert: figs, melons, plums, apricots, peaches, sugar plums and berries. The meals have to be considered especially good because Ulkür's stove is just like a Coleman camper stove and I won't even tell you what the oven is like. Ulkür's cooking is the Turkish equivalent to Mom's cooking and that's the ultimate in cuisine."

HOLDING BREATH UNDER WATER IS DANGEROUS

The danger of drowning from extended breath holding under water was emphasized today by Arthur Bellman, Water Safety Chairman for the local Berkeley Chapter of the American National Red Cross.

Bellman said his warning was addressed to children and teenagers who compete with each other to see who can stay under water the longest.

"Youngsters who play this game are simply asking for trouble — and possible tragedy," Bellman said.

"Hyperventilating — taking several deep breaths before going under water — is a dangerous practice. This is what happens physiologically," he continued. "Before going under water an individual takes several deep breaths in order to build up as much oxygen in the lungs as possible. This deep breathing, called hyperventilation, does increase the oxygen, but it lowers the carbon dioxide in the system. After a period under water, because the carbon dioxide does not build up fast enough to trigger the breathing urge, the swimmer tends to stay under too long and may black out. Then unless help is at hand to get him to the surface quickly, drowning will result."

He urged that parents make these facts known to their children and instruct them not to play the "holding-the-breath" game.

The same principles apply to swimming under water for long distances, Bellman said.

Petitions for the recall of Ronald Reagan are in circulation, according to Nancy L. Parr, the San Francisco nurse who initiated the petition on July 3, the first day under law that a recall petition could be filed.

Since news of the petition was announced over 1,000 people have contacted Miss Parr in San Francisco, and Berkeley attorney, Miss Mary Montgomery, Alameda County coordinator for the Recall Reagan Committee, offering their support and volunteering their help.

Negro Minister Speaks Friday

Thanks For Writing . . .

EDITOR, The Times:

Thank you for the information in your issue of today, which was in reply to my letter of July 13th regarding the BIG SALUTE to McDonald's Hamburgers.

In view of the information given I concur with Mrs. Larimer that a big salute was deserved by McDonald's, and that it was a great public relations gesture.

In a news item on page 2 of the July 19th issue, it is stated that an estimated 55,576 homes canvassed in the Bay Area by McDonald's on July 4th, only 11.15 per cent displayed the Flag. This is a little disappointing to me, and I would like to offer the following suggestions to increase this percentage:

No. 1—Make Flags available to the public on a COST basis. This could be done by the American Legion and/or other civic organizations. It is my recollection that some years back the Legion did sell Flags on a cost basis; also that one or more of our police force, on their own, sold and delivered Flags on a cost basis. If this is still being done, it should be given continuing publicity.

No. 2—Have all civic organizations, churches, etc., have their members who reside in premises where the Flag can be displayed sign pledge cards indicating that will display the Flag on all occasions when the Flag should be displayed. This could be conducted in the form of a contest to see which of the participating organizations receives the greatest number, percentage wise, of pledges from their members who live in premises where the FLAG can be displayed.

foregoing is submitted for your consideration and any action you care to take.

Incidentally, I am in the Dog House in my neighborhood, because I failed to mention that the FLAG was displayed at 311 Carmel Avenue, in addition to the four homes listed in my letter of the 13th. You just can't be perfect.

Elmer M. Johnson

Editor, The Times:

It used to be that pride in one's profession, in workmanship, brought devotion to such time honored slogans as "the curtain must go up," "The show must go on," and "get it first but get it right." It was his personal involvement that the late President Kennedy appealed to in his famous words: "Ask not what your country can do for you but what you can do for your country."

But it appears today our morality is changing. "Couldn't care less," has become the pass word of our civilization.

One Albany resident who definitely takes pride in this community and in his profession is Police Chief Ralph Jensen.

Albany is fortunate to have such a citizen and lucky to have him heading her police force.

Tom Conroy
Albany

Editor, The Times:

Never did I think I would see a "Letter to the Editor" that would incense me to the point of writing a retort, and I read the one written by Mr. Elmer M. Johnson in last week's issue of The Times.

Fortunately, I am not acquainted with this gentleman, but I was extremely upset and disturbed by the fact that we have such a selfish, inconsiderate individual living in Albany.

Our home happened to be one of the ones receiving a MacDonald salute and both my husband and I were very impressed with the thought expressed on the card. It is a sad situation when someone is so cynical that they cannot see the forest for the trees. To assume that this might have been a publicity stunt in instead of being grateful that in their own way, these people were trying to say "Thank you for being glad you are able to display a flag of freedom," makes me a little ill.

However, if Mr. Johnson would like to contact me, I would personally see that he gets the money for a "hamburger, etc." so that he will feel that it was worth it to have had his flag flying.

And — please, Mr. MacDonald — don't feel blue — even though some of my friends who had flags flying weren't recipients of your gift, they realize the value of your contribution, and rest assured that the next time my husband and I want a hamburger it will be from the "Golden Arches."

Mrs. Paul Gordon
1038 Pomona Avenue

EDITOR, Albany Times:

Every so often—like the annual return of the swallows to Capitano—our city council seems to feel compelled by inner instinct (otherwise known as "higher political aspiration-itis" or "let's nit-pick for the press-it") to make some great and grandstand show over the smallest, most insignificant matter.

As a long time resident, taxpayer, merchant and observer of Albany politics, I protest the recent irresponsible questioning of a reasonable request made by our efficient and most capable police chief.

Every citizen of Albany who takes the trouble, can easily discover the extreme handicaps under which Chief Jensen and his short-handed staff labor. They do a maximum job for this city at a minimum cost. The monitoring of the police station itself saves many a tax dollar.

Personally, I am getting more than a little sick of the continuous over-zealous concern for the "poor criminal." The weeping and walling in this instance is clearly done for the benefit of publicity—nothing more nor less.

Pretty shoddy behavior—if you ask me!

Frank V. Cortese

Editor, The Times:
Due largely to from your election the Alameda County the greatest year On behalf of the Board of Supervisors thank you for your story to your another service.
